

Walk report Sunday 4 August 2024 - Pots, Ponds & Pine Cones

On a cloudy but clear & dry morning, 6 set off into Alice Holt Forest for the start of a 10 mile circular walk. We enjoyed an easy start on mostly gravelled paths before heading into the woodland in the direction of Batts Corner & onwards to Frensham Common. A shady spot near the Great Pond for a short lunch break, as temperature had increased somewhat, then continued walking on the common for a time before again heading into mixed woodland in the direction of Frensham Heights. A very varied terrain, with a mix of shade and open areas, some great views and a little up /down hill along the way. The promised stop for refreshments at the Hobo cafe at Farnham Pottery was a welcome break from walking in the sun, before continuing on through Wrecclesham. Slightly overgrown path adjacent to the railway was navigated successfully before a walk along open meadows near the river Wey and back in the direction of the parked cars. A great day out and a good walk.
